

Department of Motion Picture Art and Communication

Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/mozgokep.eger.movingpicture/>

The Department of Motion Picture Art and Communication places special emphasis on the fusion of transdisciplinary inspiration. Our creative hub enables both our tutors and our students to cooperate fuelled by the dynamic interaction between the areas of television, film and communication, and witness the contemporary issues of motion picture and media from multiple angles.

The aim of our department is to incorporate and harmonise theoretical and practical approaches. Our educational strategies and collaborative relationships with partner institutes are designed to offer opportunities for our students to encounter prominent figures of national and international film and media. Emphasis is also placed on trainee programmes through which students are provided with possibilities to acquaint themselves with film and media studios, try themselves in various positions and gain experience regarding the collective responsibility of creative work.

Visual Representation BA (Motion Picture and Media specialisation)

Communication and Media Studies BA

Media Film and Communication Teacher Studies

Television Production Assistant Certificate Course

Available courses:

<http://vmi.uni-eger.hu/felveteli/index.php>

Visual Representation BA (Motion Picture and Media specialisation)

The BA Studies programme trains professionals who are enabled by their theoretical studies to understand the process and development of motion picture and mass media, and are familiar with the nature of communication through media. The graduate students are capable of producing visual content through both motion picture and multimedia texts. The appropriate theoretical knowledge and practical experience enable them to either become useful members of the creative industries or continue their studies at the MA level.

6 terms, part-time or full time

Communication and Media Studies BA

The main aim of the Communication and Media Studies BA course is to train professionals who are familiar with the concepts of communicational systems, social communication, and the operation of media institutions and their technical devices. Our graduates have a wide range of career prospects and find opportunities in the world of media, advertising or personal relations.

6 terms, part-time or full time

Media Film and Communication Teacher Studies MA

The focus of our teacher training course is to prepare students for teaching subjects and giving workshops in relation to motion picture and communications in the realms of primary, secondary and tertiary education.

10 terms, part-time or full time

Television Production Assistant Certificate Course

The programme is aimed at endowing young professionals with the suitable skills in the fields of camerawork, electronic journalism, television broadcasting and directing. Completing studies at the Television Production Assistant Certificate Course our students will be enabled to work as assistants at all spheres of television broadcasting.

4 terms, part-time or full time